Introduction

Irish swimming has achieved some great results on the international stage since 2008. Notably, medal winning performances have been consistently achieved at European Senior, Junior and Youth levels. The numbers of people qualifying for major meets, specifically the European Junior Swimming Championships, continues to improve, highlighting the success of our Club Coaches and the National Youth Development Squad, established in 2010. However, Irish swimming is not yet competing and achieving similar success on a World Stage. This will be a major focus of the High Performance Strategy over the next four years.

Training principles for Irish Swimmers & Coaches

Each member of the squad programme is expected to achieve target hours and volume on a consistent basis as set out below. Swimmers without the available hours in their club structures will be assigned extra time at one of the Performance Centre programmes. Coaches are expected to design their programme with these volumes and times in mind.

				Weekly Volume
		Weekly Pool Hours	Weekly Gym Sessions	Sprint Programme	Mid-Distance Programme	Distance Programme
Senior Squad	Female	16-20	5	50-60k	55-70k	60-90k
	Male	16-20	5	45-60k	55-70k	60-90k
Junior Squad	Female	14-18+	4-5		50-65k	60-80k
	Male	14-18+	4-5		50-65k	60-80k
Youth Squad	Female	12-14	3-4		45-55k	55-65k
	Male	12-14	3-4		40-55k	55-65k

At Youth and Junior Squad levels the emphasis is on a programme designed around mid-distance and distance based swimming. As these are still mostly development swimmers the emphasis in this phase of their development is to be on establishing a good training base built around the aerobic and anaerobic threshold systems and still including anaerobic type work. We need to continue to lay the foundation with these swimmers for the future. Too often we train for now and are unwilling to give our swimmers the background to help to see them into the future.

Swimmers in the Senior Squad will need to focus on hours in the pool. I still believe the majority of our senior group still needs to be putting a good deal of work around a strong training base of work. The program needs to be designed around the next four years and making sure this first year of the four year cycle focuses on the long term plan and establishing good training principles.

These parameters will challenge coaches to change what they do with their swimmers and I believe will deliver results on a more sustained basis. We have to make our swimmers the best athletes possible in the pool. They have to be challenged every day to produce results in training if they are to achieve in the competition pool.

We are being measured against other countries that ask similar things from their swimmers. Our talent pool is not that big so for us to be able to succeed on this stage we must work harder than our competitors. We have to establish with our younger swimmers that work ethic and commitment to the programme is the only way to succeed.

Going forward with this plan the role of personal coach will be significant in the monitoring of the athletes training and progression through the cycle. Swim Ireland are working with Sport Tracker to introduce an online training diary and training log and interactive monitor to help coaches and swimmers better assist with the recording of their training.

National Senior Squad for 2012-2013

The National Senior Squad will be focused on performances at World Championships and Olympic Games. Qualification for this squad will continue to be based on the FINA A Standard.

Selection Policy:

- In order to qualify for the National Senior Squad swimmers must achieve the qualifying standard from 1st January 2012 to 31st August 2012.
- Additional members will be added after the Dave McCullagh Memorial meet 2013.
- The times are all Long Course and no conversions will be accepted.
- Athletes will be required to sign an Athlete Agreement form and must be eligible to represent Ireland.
- Any athlete who has achieved the qualifying standard must send a claim form to Swim Ireland (see attached).

Relay Policy:

- The top 4 eligible swimmers based on national rankings in the 100m and 200m Freestyle and the top swimmer in the 100m Fly/Back/Breaststroke will be invited to join the National Senior Squad if not already members of this squad.
- Relay swimmers will be selected from times on the Swim Ireland National database from 1st January 2012 to 31st August 2012.

Transition Policy:

A two year transition period has been included in the National Senior Squad to assist with the development of swimmers from Junior to Senior swimming. This is applicable to Boys born 1993/1994 and Girls born 1995/1996 who achieve the published qualifying times.

Open Water Policy:

Swimmers wishing to be considered as part of the National Senior Squad for Open Water Swimming must have competed in European events recognised by LEN and World events recognised by FINA. Swimmers who have competed at these events will be considered by the National Performance Director based on placing. Swimmers who do not meet this requirement will be asked to post a 1500m Freestyle time that is within the FINA 'B' Consideration Time for the World Championships 2013. These times are:
Male: 15:46.38
Female: 17:00.88

Competition Programme:

- The focus of the National Squads programme in the first three months of the season will be on training preparations.
- Athletes on the National Squads programmes will be expected to attend and support the National Competitions as part of the Athlete Agreement. Participation in the 2013 Irish National LC Championships (25-28th April 2013) is mandatory for all squad members who wish to be considered for international events that year.
- The goal of the National Squads Competition programme will be to expose athletes to a higher level of competition and the programme from January to July 2013, which will be budget dependant.

Senior Squad Goals for Coaches and Swimmers:

- Commit to train at a World Class level
- Qualify for World Championships, World University Games, European Championships, and Olympic Games.
- Commit to camps and competitions that are scheduled for the Senior Squad
- Agree targets with the National Performance Director for all meets throughout the year
- Achieve target goals throughout the year
- Submit a training and competition plan to the National Performance Director by October 2012
- Be available to meet with the National Performance Director to assess training and competition plan.
- Report any injury or illness that will affect training to the National Performance Director within 24 hours
- Use the Sport Tracker system to log training information
- Submit weekly updates from personal coaches on swimmers progress
- Sign Athlete Agreement Contract
